CAMP SHERMAN NOTES

ASSOCIATED PRESS TELEGRAMS

Camp Sherman, Chillicothe, O., Oct. 1.—Selective draft men in training here are making enormous business for Chillicothe firms that handle picture-taking outfits. Cameras of all kinds, from the little "inches by inches" kind to the fine big-speed machines are being sold by the dozens—yes, hundreds. Everybody and his brother at camp wants to send back a photograph of "how I appear as a soldier" or "in my uniform." The more clothing issued, the greater demand for pictures.

One Chillicothe jewelry store that handles a popular line of cameras also does developing of films. Business got to such an enormous proportion that the firm now is sending away an average of two bushel baskets of rolls of film each day to have the developing done outside of Chillicothe.

"A photograph" that will carry with it the exclusive right of making photographs in Camp Sherman soon is to be left as a government contract. There are many professional photographers.

But right now, the fellow with a picture box is a popular man. In some instances, amateur photographers have been taking pictures for those who wanted them and charging ten cents for each copy thereby earning spending money over and above the $30 monthly they receive for just "soldering."

All kinds of sports and games will be encouraged at Camp Sherman from now on. The officers, the army Y. M. C. A., the war department's commission on training camp activities and other organizations that can contribute to physical play and exercise in this big military camp are going in for it strong.

The idea is to get every man in the best of physical condition—so that each man may be able to crawl and do other things required in trench warfare.

The officers are not going to worry much about the professional athletes, the back-yard athletes and the town game players. These fellows usually get in their spare time of some sort of athletics anyway. But the encouragement will be given the fellow who has gotten all his sport from the bleachers watching the other fellow do the work, the one whose muscles are soft and his habits formed to ease-taking.

"Today is a grim, cold, scientific game," said an officer in talking of the sports activities. "We have brought science to the aid of personal bravery and to get the best use we must train every inch of the body—the hand, the brain and properly co-ordinated co-ordination. There must be strength. There must be strength—brute strength. God help the man who is not strong enough to use his bayonet. He is a weakling and will suffer the fate of weaklings everywhere. It is for that reason that athletic games are encouraged."

Selective service soldiers at Camp Sherman who have had experience playing band instruments now are being selected for membership in the numerous military bands that go to make up an army.

Music is to be an important phase of the training for war. It will not be limited to band music. Men will be encouraged to sing—choral singing, quartette singing, and all sorts of singing and music will be stimulated. There is something more than mere entertainment back of it all too.

Hard, intensive training, such as is in store for the recruits is going to wipe out many of their finer sentiments, officers say. It is going to create in them more of the brute. Experience in the British army has proved that men of long intensive training become brutes even among themselves. Many officers say, will soften their lust for battle and smooth over their fiercer natures and balance the mind and feelings against the high-pitched physical nature.

There will be no strict censorship on the news of Camp Sherman, where drafted men from Ohio and Western Pennsylvania are receiving instruction in the art of modern warfare.

News of the camp is to be "wide open" pursuant to the general policy of the war department and to instructions issued by Major General E. F. Glenn, in command. Newspaper men will be permitted practically all liberties. They are given the freedom of the camp. No objections are raised to their visits to the barracks of the selective draft men. They may even share a mess with the soldiers or spend a night in a bunk if the proper invitation is issued.

Moving of the army to the front is news matter coming under the ban. This sort of news will not be given out and must not be used, for it comes within the pale of "giving information and comfort to the enemy." There are other restrictions, but they apply practically wholly to movements of troops.

Recently General Glenn let it be known that families of selective draft men may visit the soldiers here. He also let it be known that granting of passes to the men to leave camp would be observed in a liberal way. He wants the men on their mettle. He doesn't want severe cases of homesickness.

Newspaper correspondents at camp have been placed upon their honor to refer doubtful stories to members of General Glenn's staff. Assistant Chief of Staff, Major Greer, has arranged to meet the newspaper men at least once daily and often in case of individual inquiry.

There are hundreds of laughable things happening daily these days in Camp Sherman. Each company has its jokes and its fun-making incidents.

The other day when the "forty percent men" were coming in, a captain was calling the roll of his new company. There was one name, that of a foreigner, which he was afraid to attempt to pronounce. So he called all the rest of the names. The foreigner was left standing without having answered "here."

"Has your name been called?" asked the officer, pointing to the man.

"No, no name," said the recruit. "What is your name?" asked the captain.

"It's no got. All same like box car—just a number," was the surprising answer.

How Chillicothe has prospered with the coming of its "war baby"—Camp Sherman—is so better illustrated than in the big increase in bank deposits. On March 5, before the people of the little city had any idea there would be such an enormous institution at the doors of the town, bank deposits amounted to $6,285,234.12. Six months later on September 11, deposits were $7,792,894.62, a gain in six months' time of $1,508,660.51.

The only decrease was in trust funds, which dropped off $6,687. This has been attributed to the purchase of Liberty Loan bonds. The combined capital of Chillicothe banks is $700,000. The deposits now are greater than ever before in the history of the city.

The postman delivers many a letter that is entirely uncalled for.

KEEP LOOKING YOUNG

It's Easy—If You Know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets

The secret of keeping young is to feed young—to do this you must watch your liver and bowels—there's no need of having a yellow complexion—dark rings under your eyes—pimples—a bilious look in your face—all eyes with no sparkle. Your doctor will tell you ninety per cent of all sickness comes from inactive bowels and liver.

Dr. Edwards, a well-known physician in Ohio, perfected a vegetable compound mixed with olive oil to act on the liver and bowels, which he gave to his patients for years.

Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets, the substance for colon, are gentle in their action yet always effective. They bring about that easiness of spirit, that natural buoyancy by which the liver and bowels are kept in the system of health.

You will know Dr. Edwards' Olive Tablets by their olive color. No and the price. All druggists.

Newark far outstripped Oakland in the send-off to her boys, and again I must say I am proud of her and take great pride in showing the article as published in The Advocate. I should have been pleased to have been with you on the grand occasion. Very respectfully, Rufus Putnam, Oakland, Cal.

Leonard H. Kelly, formerly of this city, but who removed to Mt. Vernon several years ago, and was a candidate for county recorder on the Republican ticket last fall, is now stationed at Camp Sherman, Montgomery, Ala., with the boys from Licking county. Mr. Kelly was appointed sergeant-major of a regiment, but after entering the service asked to be relieved of that duty and was assigned to the S. A. A. Train service. He is enjoying camp-life and gaining in weight and wishes to be remembered to his many Newark friends.

LIBERTY-LOAN PRIMER.

Your war, my war, and all the world besides. The one feature that stood up most prominently, when war with Germany was declared, was the lack of enthusiastic approval on the part of the American public. For the unvarnished truth is that America did not want war. And it won no popularity when it came.

Too many people believed we were but interfering in a foreign quarrel which really did not affect us one way or the other. In a word, that we were taking up the fight of a losing side for some reason which did not appear upon the surface of things, and which the average man could not understand.

We resented many things in the early days. The treatment of Americans in Germany, the interference with our long-concealed rights on the high seas; the interruption of our foreign commerce, and numerous others. But it took the Lusitania horror, fully to arouse our righteous indignation.

Yet, slowly but surely, America is becoming aroused.

That it is your war and my war and all the world besides is only now coming into general realization. The delayed revelations by the state department of the widespread ramifications of German intrigue, which sought to array against us every suspected hostile influence on this hemisphere or elsewhere, conclusively convinced the thinking man that the ultimate German intention, after victory in Europe, was to swoop down upon America, torpid from over-indulgence in lavish wealth, and make her pay the war cost which her bankrupt victims abroad could not possibly meet.

AND WHAT SHE HAD PLANNED THEN, SHE WILL DO NOW, UNLESS AMERICA AND HER ALLIES ARE VICTORIOUS IN THE WAR.

Prussian militarism must be vanquished in no uncertain manner. It must be brought to its knees. It must be routed completely and utterly.

And your way of assisting will be to buy a Liberty bond.

REDUCING DISTRIBUTION COSTS.

Every household is talking about the rising cost of living, and everyone wants to know what the economists, scientists, and other wise men are doing to hold it down. The Advocate has arranged for a series of six feature editorials by Edward Kirk Titus, syndicate writer, on this subject. These will begin about October 15.

The cost of getting food products from the producer to the consumer is admitted by all experts to be preposterous. The various projects for reducing this cost, both by individual action and new equipment of various kinds, will be briefly treated in this series of editorials.

Everyone wants to hear about the progress being made in the fight against COST OF LIVING, and will want to read this series of articles. Subscribe now and get it.

THIS WAR OF SCIENCE.

The war now being fought is not merely a battle of fighting men. It is a contest of our scientists and technical men against theirs. No matter how brave and resourceful our soldiers are, unless they are backed up by the most scientific and technical equipment, we can't win. It is destroyer against submarine, airplane against airplane, explosive against explosive. The side with the best science will be the victor.

LETTERS TO THE BOY.

(Ohio State Journal.)
Dear mothers, don't write sob letters to the boys who have gone off to war. Write letters up on the summit of their noble resolution to serve their country. Write to them as the men they are, not as children; but as men with high purposes and splendid resolutions. An intelligent mother can reach that high plane, and can infuse in the breast of her boy a manlier idea that would sustain him better than could a deluge of regrets. Let her write something like this:

Dear Boy—We are missing you every hour, but in the missing we are comforted with the idea that our boy has the will and courage to do his part for his country. (At this point tell the little family and neighborhood news.) Keep yourself in habit and life a pure, good, brave boy. I pray God to take good care of you and bring you home to your loving mother, when your duty is done. Goodbye, with warm embraces from all the family. Yours, etc.

That is only a suggestion to keep the boys out, and to simply communicate with the brave, gentle spirit of the boy. Of course, one cannot keep down the pressure of affection, but one must learn that too much of it is not calculated to make a boy strong in the performance of his perilous duties. The mother the boy leaves behind him is the finest inspiration there is in the world, if she only uses it to strengthen her boy in the trenches.

QUAKER QUIPS.

(Philadelphia Record)
It is almost as easy to give advice as to refuse it.

The envious man's idea of a soft berth is merely one that somebody else has.

Every cloud has a silver lining, but a man must be a practical aviator to prove it.

Just because a man is made of clay, don't jump to the conclusion that he is lacking in sand.

Experience is a good investment, provided you don't pay more for it than it is worth.

The average man would be satisfied with his run of luck, if it wasn't for some other fellow's.

You never can tell. The man who says he is satisfied to rest on his reputation may be mighty restless.

Contentment may be better than riches, but, just the same, riches will make the average man content.

For one man who is honest because he can't help it, a thousand are honest because it's the best policy.

Spirit of the Press

More Health, Less Heat.
The American home has long been a wasteful place. In this land of comparative plenty we have thrown out of the back door enough to furnish many loves and fishes. We are now utilizing our crusts as well as reducing our personal food consumption. But there is another way in which economy will help the American in sane living. The American home has long been too hot in the winter, as has the American office. Instead of being satisfied with a healthful 65 degrees, we demand an unhealthy 75 degrees or more for our apparent comfort. Let your thermometer ever be better, 70 degrees, than nearer 75, the better, and you will be serving not only the nation in the abetting that important institution, your individual health.—Cincinnati Times Star.

Meat Supply in Danger.
Representatives of western stock raisers have asked the national food administration for a Federal guarantee against losses in the live stock industry. Small producers complain that feed prices are too high to justify fattening or raising any animals, and argue that the guarantee would prevent the slaughter of thousands of lambs and feeders during the fall and early winter. The broad general purpose of the control law is to bring prices down, not to stimulate increased production with higher prices. Wheat is the only exception to the general principle of the law, and even there the guarantee on the 1917 crop is coupled with measures to reduce prices on the 1917 harvest of wheat. WHY GERMANY SEEKS PEACE.

(Philadelphia Record.)
One reason for Germany's feverish anxiety to make peace may be seen in the casualty figures given out by the British government for its own troops. For the week ending September 25 these totaled 23,025, and for the week before 27,164, giving a weekly average of 25,100 during a fortnight which included both active operations and a period of comparative quiet. The French never make their losses public, but as there has been much lively fighting about Verdun and along the Aisne, it may be assumed that they have suffered in the same degree as the British, making the allies' weekly casualties 50,200.

Military experts have stated that in the style of offensive operations now conducted by the British and the French, wherein there is an overpowering storm of shells and shrapnel, often lasting for many days, the defense suffers no less, and possibly even more than the offense. The probability of this is seen in the weakening German resistance to British attacks. It is not an unreasonable assumption, therefore, that the weekly German losses equal those of the allies, or some 50,000. If this rate of casualties extends throughout the year, declining somewhat in winter, but rising high in weather favorable to active field operations, Germany's losses in a twelve-month reach the colossal figure of 2,500,000. Of course, a large proportion of the wounded make a full recovery and return to the front, but even at that the net loss must be enormous. This ceaseless attrition must be as disheartening to the troops in France and Belgium as it is agonizing to the families of the soldiers. Sooner or later the Teutonic line will be so thin that the allies, reinforced by the United States, are bound to break through.

Germany realizes this, and is eager to make peace before there is a total collapse, both military and economic. She knows that the submarine campaign has been a failure and that Great Britain cannot be starved into submission. While affecting to despise the American army as an important factor, she is fully informed as to the enormous resources of the United States and how potent they may be in conjunction with British and French armies.

Yes, undoubtedly Germany wants peace, but she also wants to make her own terms. If the allies stand firmly together, their ultimate triumph will be inevitable, and they will then make a peace that will endure.

MILITARY TERMS ARE MADE PLAIN

How Novice Can Tell What an Order Means.

FIRST LESSONS OF SOLDIERS

What the Men in Our Cantonnments Were Taught Immediately Upon Their Arrival—How to Tell Rank of an Officer by His Insignia—Other Army Facts.

Troops generally move in columns. (The usual column is four men abreast—two ranks comprising a squad, with the corporal as the man on the left in the rear rank.) They go into the firing line in "extended order"—sometimes referred to as the skirmish line. Troops are sent into battle or engagement as the firing line, the support and the reserve. The tactical unit in line of battle or engagement is the battalion.

A picket consists of several men—generally a squad. One of a picket is a sentinel or sentry. In front and on the flanks of all troops in camp are outposts—pickets. All troops doing guard duty, picket duty, outpost duty, etc., are commanded by "the officers of the day," so designated for a period of twenty-four hours, as are the troops on guard duty.

Troops carry "pouches"—rubber blankets. Not rain coats or rain capes. Mounted troops and drivers are equipped with "slickers."

A bayonet is kept in a scabbard. A rifle or carbine is loaded with a clip.

Fatigue duty refers to work to be done about a camp.

A camp is "policed" when it is cleaned up—rid of rubbish and the like. A cavalryman is called a trooper. A recruit is not a "rookie" unless you want to use slang. The phrase "new recruit" is redundant.

Troops are "mustered" into the service and out. Also they are "mustered" each month for the benefit of the paymaster—that he may know whether dead men are drawing pay.

The insignia of United States officers designating rank are as follows: Second Lieutenant—Brown braid on cuffs, gold-black cord on hat, braided U. S. on collar; leather leggings.

First Lieutenant—One bar on shoulder. Other insignia corresponding to second lieutenant.

Captain—Two bars on shoulder. Major—Gold leaf on shoulder. Lieutenant Colonel—Silver leaf on shoulder.

Colonel—Silver eagle on shoulder. Brigadier General—One silver star on shoulder.

Major General—Two silver stars on shoulder. Lieutenant General—Three silver stars on shoulder.

Full General—Four silver stars on shoulder.

All grades wear brown braid on cuffs, gold-black cord on hats, leather leggings and U. S. on collar.

The insignia worn by the various branches of the service are: Infantry—Two crossed rifles. Cavalry—Two crossed sabers. Artillery—Two crossed cannons. Medical—Mercury wand with intertwined snakes.

The designating colors for each branch are: Infantry, blue; cavalry, yellow; artillery, red; medical corps, maroon.

The following is an explanation of army terms:

A corps is two or more divisions commanded by a major general. A division is composed of two or more brigades, also commanded by a major general.

A brigade, commanded by a brigadier general, is composed of two or more regiments and independent companies or battalions.

A regiment of infantry consists of twelve line companies and three additional companies. It is commanded by a colonel, with the following additional officers: One lieutenant colonel, three majors, fifteen captains as company commanders, three of them also being members of the colonel's staff as adjutant, quartermaster and commissary; two lieutenants to each company, one lieutenant acting on each of the three majors' staff.

A battalion is made up of four companies and is commanded by a major. A company of infantry consists of about 150 men divided into two platoons; platoons are divided into squads. A platoon is commanded by a lieutenant (a commissioned officer), two or more squads are commanded by a sergeant, a squad is commanded by a corporal and comprises seven men besides the corporal.

A company of cavalry is called a troop, and a battalion of cavalry is called a squadron.

A company of artillery is called a battery. It is divided into sections and there may be different numbers of guns, according to the kind of artillery.

Three batteries of artillery make a battalion.

The word "company," "troop" or "battery" should not be used before the letter, as "Company B." It would be the same as to say "Street Jackson." The letter comes first, just as the numeral comes before the word regiment: "Second regiment," not "Regiment Second."

Ammunition is spoken of in terms of rounds. "Fifty rounds" means fifty cartridges—fifty shots.

When you lend a hand it is just as well to have something in it.

"All My Family Take Father John's Medicine

When They Need a Tonic."

It Builds New Flesh and Strength

Here is part of a letter written from Pittsburg: "This is a picture of my oldest boy when he was seven months old. That winter he had a very bad attack of croup and I had a doctor for a time but could not get help for him so I got a bottle of Father John's Medicine and it helped at once and gave him great relief. I always give Father John's Medicine to all my family whenever they need tonic. (Signed) Mrs. W. F. Flucher, 709 3/4 Wiltse St., E. E., Pittsburgh, Pa.

For all the family, the older people as well as the children, Father John's Medicine is the best body building tonic because it is actual food which is easily taken up by those who are weak and run down. It is safe because it does not contain alcohol or dangerous drugs of any form.

A LIBERAL OFFER BY LICKING CREAMERY COMPANY

To the Users of Milk and Cream From Its Retail Wagon.

The Licking Creamery Company begs to announce that until further notice it will make a regular monthly award of two (2) $1.00 sheets of milk tickets, upon each of its retail milk wagon routes to private consumers of milk and cream throughout the city.

The awards will be made on the 15th day of each month.

A duplicate receipt stub from every sheet of tickets sold during the preceding month will be placed in a box from which the stubs to receive awards will be drawn by a disinterested party. Each route will be handled separately.

THERE IS BUT ONE CONDITION QUALIFYING THESE AWARDS.

All competitors must have their accounts with the Licking Creamery Company paid in full for the month preceding the one in which any given drawing occurs.

In other words, should a duplicate of one of your ticket receipt stubs be drawn on the 15th of one month it would not receive an award unless your account was paid in full for the month preceding.

This is absolutely the only requirement made, thereby characterizing this proposition as being extremely clean and liberal.

We hope it will please the public. Watch for the next drawing. Your name may be among the fortunate ones to be announced in the papers following the next drawing.

Milady's Boudoir

"I often wonder how I manage to catch so many colds," explained Mrs. Up-to-date-dresser. "I am always careful to wear my rubbers on the stormy days, and yet I am always sniffing and blowing. I can't understand it."

"Maybe your feet are properly dressed but your head is not always cared for," replied Mrs. Common Sense. "For instance, I saw you yesterday with your fur hat on, and today you are wearing a mere covering of gold lace and wire. Surely it is colder today than yesterday."

And Mrs. Common Sense was right. So many of us are careless about our throats being protected, and our feet dry, but we carelessly change our hats without a thought. No two hats are very often alike in weight. A velvet hat that fits the head closely is warmer than a flaring brimmed one of silk. A fur hat is warmer than lace and so it goes.

Today we tucked our head into a fur toque, and spend most of our time in the hot stores, and tomorrow we go to a bridge wearing the lace one. Donning the early stray hat after wearing the heavy velvet, and far ones is indeed a dangerous feat, and is usually followed by disagreeable head cold. Care should be taken in the choice of the hats to suit the weather as well as any article of our wardrobe.

It's just as well to speak in honeyed phrases if you have any idea you may be forced to eat your own words.

Our Boys and Girls

Junket is a predigested custard, frequently prescribed for teething babies from fourteen months on, also for delicate children. It is prepared with essence of pepsin on a junket tablet which can be bought at any grocery store.

Pour one cup of sweet milk in a clean enameled steppan, dissolve a junket tablet in one tablespoon of cold water. Turn this lightly into the warm milk, stir just enough to mix it, add a very little sugar and flavoring, turn into cups or small bowls to cool. When cool it looks like a milk jelly.

When the baby is exhausted by teething, add a thoroughly beaten egg along with the sugar and flavoring. This dish is said to be even more easily digested than plain or modified milk.

Every Day Etiquette

"A man today helped me to pick up some parcels I had dropped and then started to walk along with me. Is that proper?" asked Midge.

"No indeed," answered her mother. "After recovering the parcels for you he should have raised his hat and passed on."

PRACTICAL HEALTH HINT.

The Abuse of Purgatives.

It may sound absurd, but the true reason why so many people constantly have recourse to purgatives to keep in condition is that purgative drugs are so easy to obtain. In other words, very often the person who prescribes a purgative for himself instead of lessening his tendency to constipation is only confirming his digestive tract in its habits of sluggishness. The intestine is just like a human being in that if it can get its work done for it it will become slack and lazy. If used to receiving the stimulus of a powerful purgative drug several times a week or even nightly it readily gets into such a condition that it is unable to carry out its work properly without this stimulus.

"Time works wonders," quoted the Wise Guy. "So would most people if they were as tireless as time," added the Simple Mug.

THE COURTS

County Visitors' Report.

Mrs. Margaret Hall, Etta M. Kreig and Mrs. Sattie Seymour and Messrs. C. L. V. Holts and O. C. Larson, have made their report to the probate court after visiting the Girls Industrial School at Delaware. The school and home comprises 187 acres, all of which is well cultivated. They found the girls were also engaged in making all kinds of clothing for their own use. There are 497 girls, 57 of whom are colored, at the school. Licking county only has four, which speaks well for the county and especially for Judge Robbins Hunter, juvenile judge, who not only gives girls "another chance," but better still plans for improved environments in the future.

One Armed Daily.

Among Americans who have achieved athletic prominence, though minus an arm or leg, Hugh Daily, the phenomenal one armed pitcher for the Cleveland National league team in the early eighties, is perhaps the best known. The older generation of baseball fans remember Daily's pitching was unusually "classy." The records show that in 1883 he pitched a no hit game against Philadelphia, and the next year he established an average strike out record for one season that still holds good.

During that year he took part in fifty-four games and struck out 464 batters, giving him an average of 8.69 per cent. The nearest approach to this record was that of the late Babe Waddell, who pitched thirty-nine games in 1914, fanned 323 batters and made a percentage of .830—Exchange.

MUSIC

The work of the New York Community Chorus this winter will take a broader scope than it has in the past. The leader says:

"Our first call will be that of service in establishing singing for the New York men stationed at Camp Upton. This work will begin about the first of October, after all the men are in camp. Already plans have been submitted for the first great auditorium to be used for singing purposes, and this will cost more than 20,000 soldiers. Our purpose is to hold company and regimental singing every day during the week—at a time which would not conflict with camp routine—and on either Saturday or Sunday a great massing will be held in camp, that all the men of the command may be brought together in the unity which comes through singing together."

Second in importance to this activity will be our task of "keeping the home fires burning." It will be the work of this chorus to inspire with courage the people who remain at home, so that we may fit ourselves to welcome our soldiers when they return. We must keep this thought very strongly in our minds—that our boys are coming back, and it is for us to keep alive the spirit of creative beauty that we may extend a fitting welcome to our victorious soldiers."

Keep in mind the rehearsal of the civic chorus society, Tuesday evening at 7:30 in Taylor Hall.

Mrs. Mary France, 74, who formerly resided at Chatham, died suddenly at the home of her daughter, Mrs. John Spicer, in Mansfield on Saturday afternoon. She was seized with heart failure and died within a few minutes. Funeral services will be held at Mansfield on Tuesday morning at 8:30 o'clock, and the body will be brought to Vanatta for interment in the Wilson cemetery.

EVEN CROSS, SICK CHILDREN LOVE SYRUP OF FIGS

or Feverish, Bilious, Constipated, Give Fruit Laxative at Once

Don't scold your fretful, peevish child. See if tongue is coated; this is a sure sign its little stomach, liver and bowels are clogged with sour waste.

When listless, pale, feverish, full of cold, breath bad, throat sore, doesn't eat, sleep or act naturally, has stomachache, indigestion, diarrhoea, give a teaspoonful of "California Syrup of Figs," and in a few hours all the foul waste, the sour bile and fermenting food pass out of the bowels and you have a well and playful child again. Children love this harmless "fruit laxative," and mothers can rest easy after giving it, because it never fails to make their little "insides" clean and sweet.

Keep it handy, Mother! A little given today saves a sick child tomorrow, but get the genuine. Ask your druggist for a 50-cent bottle of "California Syrup of Figs," which has the directions for babies, children of all ages and for grown-ups plainly on the bottle. Remember there are counterfeits sold here, so surely look and see that yours is made by the "California Fig Syrup Company." Hand back with contempt any other fig syrup.

SPAIN NURSES HER TROUBLES

People Seem to Be Afraid to Take Up Arms.

FIGHTING SPIRIT NOT WELDED

Would Be Revolutionists Lack Money and Organization, Says a Noted Authority—Many of the Disorders Are Attributed to Local Causes—Chances of Internal Strife.

J. Fitzmaurice-Kelly, professor of Spanish at King's college, London, an authority on Hispanic matters, contributes to the Pall Mall Gazette an interesting discussion of elements in the Spanish situation which have received little notice. He says:

There are more fighting spirit and independence in the Russians and less practical sense, perhaps, than in the Spaniards.

I attribute most of the disorders in Valencia to local causes. The inability of the natives to sell their fruit, especially to England, is one. Quite naturally the British government cannot risk British shipping for Spanish fruit. On the other hand, England sends ships to the north of Spain for oranges. A luxury, oranges are useful in war. The people of Valencia feel that they have been left in the lurch.

The unity of Spain is not an accomplished fact; it is a phrase, nothing more. One sees that in the separation of the Catalans in Barcelona. It is indicated in the abundance of regional literature in Spain. Spain, indeed, is richer than any other modern country in this respect. Regional literature is the literature of the locality; Hardy's Wessex is an English example. In Spain the local spirit is highly developed. "Are you Spanish?" "No, I am a Catalan," or "I am an Andalusian." One may ask such a question and obtain such an answer in any railway carriage when one is traveling in Spain.

As the country is not welded together, is there enough fighting spirit to lead an open outbreak? Supposing, for instance, the Valencians or the people of any province take up arms, what opportunity have they got to fight the central government? Personally, I do not consider that they have very much chance of success. I base my view on the general principle that revolutions mean money and organization, neither of which abounds, say, in Valencia. Furthermore, the central government, although not popular, is strong. The Spaniard in the profundity of his heart respects strength. The Spanish kings who have been most popular have names which are a scandal in history. It is only necessary to recall Peter the Cruel and Philip II. Men may be tyrants, but they accomplish something; they govern.

I think that the inclination of the people in power will be to defend themselves. King Alfonso will not go down without a fight, as Don Manuel did in Portugal. The army may not be in good condition, yet the soldiers have what they themselves call "pride of uniform." That in itself makes them high handed, something which would be evident in the event of an outbreak. It may be remembered that the army's own most pressing grievances have been dealt with lately. And then, too, I imagine there would be a great division of opinion among the people, notably among the bourgeoisie. They know from personal experience Spain's tendency toward splitting up into little republics, and they would not put their money into anything of that kind.

Opposition Prospects.
Taking into consideration the unity of the established power and the disunity of the opposition, the prospects of the latter do not appear to me to be very great. In Barcelona, which is both the Belfast of Spain and the center of discontent, the disorders have been suppressed. What has happened there is likely to happen elsewhere.

While in Russia England is looked upon as "the enemy of freedom," in Spain she is looked upon as the organizer of revolutions. Gibraltar, of course, is worked for all it is worth by the German propagandists as a sentimental grievance among Spaniards, who have somehow got the idea that if Germany should be victorious Spain would be given back Gibraltar at the end of the war.

Even English and German commercial travelers have, in their way, certain acquired reputations in Spain. The German trade representative is always eager to please and to meet requirements. The Englishman's attitude is, "Take the goods as they are or leave them." The Spanish tradesman prefers to have his accounts in pesetas; the English traders make out their invoices in pounds sterling. The German bows to the desire of the Spanish commercial population, and pesetas are the basis of calculation.

A WILD FOODS REMINDER.

Much Food Goes to Waste Because No One Gathers It.

Don't forget in the lean days the wild fruits and the many things which nature spreads so lavishly on all sides for those who will take the trouble to pick or gather, writes Raymond S. Spears of the Vigilantes.

Consider the wild berries. There are the strawberries that Waitou loved, the raspberry, blackberry, blueberry, buffalo berry, jewberry, wintergreen berry, wild cranberry, and I do not know how many wild fruits which grow along the fences of old fields and all the way back to the shores of the wild, remote ponds of the deep wilderness.

Countless tons of wild fruits go to waste in back pastures, especially blackberries in old logging shoppings, which the city owners of automobiles could easily find by inquiry anywhere from Maine to far down into the southern states. Consider the case with which ten or twenty quarts of wild berries can be picked by a woman and her family on a picnic day—berries that otherwise would go to waste! There are even wild orchards of apples, peaches and other fruit of the kind Thoreau loved, which the drivers of cars unfraid of country roads could easily find in sight of the haze over great cities.

Then, too, there are countless quintals of nuts which commonly go to feed squirrels or to grow useless numbers of seedling trees. The old familiar butter-nut hides along streams and coves, walnuts may still be found, chestnuts offer days of rare picking. The elusive beechnut, hazelnut, pecan and hickory nut offer such sport and rich food as every one who has been young in the wood lots must remember.

Remember in the lean days other food now wasted—good, wholesome meat. I've eaten muskrats and found them good to eat—perhaps you have eaten swamp rabbits or marsh squirrels, young skunks, young crows, woodchucks, possums, coons and the like. Millions of muskrats are wasted annually—literally thousands of tons of good, savory, small venison.

In the lean days remember the wild foods.

'MYSTERY SHIPS' STILL A MYSTERY TO PUBLIC

Secret of Britain's Newest Fighters Carefully Guarded From the Public.

Not until Germany has been flooded for the ten count will the world have a peep at the mysterious, odd shaped fighters that are beating the submarine today. In England they are referred to vaguely as "mystery ships" and "hush boats." Imaginative people give them fantastic shapes and endow them with powers beyond the dreams of the land-faring folk will be disappointed when it is all over and the hush boats come out of the haze to be looked at by seaport visitors.

Privileged visitors to the great naval bases are extremely reticent about the hush boats. For weeks the newspapers have been hinting about something they know, but have crossed their hearts not to tell—something about the new and mysterious sea rowdies which despise naval footwork, but prefer to rush in headlong and scrap it out with the U boat till one or the other goes down.

The mystery ship ranks with the tank as a feat of invention and construction, according to the jealous guardians of the secret. King George inspected two new types of vessels during his June visit to the grand fleet. They were in a class of their own, and the class was never mentioned to the public. Sea monsters, mystery ships, hush boats—they account for some of the high honors recently conferred on naval officers.

PLANS U BOAT DRIVE.

Steel Head Suggests Fleet of Glass Bottom Patrol Boats.

Charles B. Bryson, president of the Electric Steel company of Pittsburgh, who at the beginning of the war refused to "humanitarian reasons" a $4,000,000 shipyard order from the British government, is now aiding the United States government in its search for an effective solution of the German submarine menace.

Glass bottom patrol boats have been suggested by the steel man as a means of ridding the seas of the U boats. Several thousand high speed surface patrol boats, with glass bottoms and equipped with powerful projectors, would enable observers on board to see below the surface of the water for a depth of more than 600 feet.

Cables to be cast overboard for the purpose of entangling the propellers of submarines when they are sighted are included in Mr. Bryson's plans, which have been turned over to the naval consulting board.

Big Family Reunion.
Krechlbaum families from Ohio, Pennsylvania and West Virginia, 150 in number, in reunion at Canton, O., have decided to start a country wide movement to have the names Krechlbaum, Kreichbaum, Krichbaum and Crichbaum changed to Krichbaum.

Dye From Hedge Balls.
An American company has been formed to manufacture dye and tanning extracts from holly hedges, or orange orange. The dye will be used chiefly to color khaki cloth.

You never can tell. A man may be as deaf as a post and still have sound judgment.

HOW MUCH INCOME TAX YOU MUST PAY

Figures Explain Workings of New War Revenue Bill.

A "KEY" MAKES IT SIMPLE

Reduces Former Exemptions of $3,000 For Single Men and $4,000 For Married Men to $1,000 and $2,000 Respectively—Beginning at $5,000, the New Taxes Begin to Gradually Increase.

The war revenue bill as passed by the senate is of especial interest to the man who has to pay federal income taxes. It is not difficult to ascertain what the tax will be until the income exceeds $5,000. A "key" makes it comparatively easy then.

It must be kept in mind, to begin properly, that the principal effect of the new bill is to add a new "normal" tax of 2 per cent on all incomes to the 2 per cent "normal" provided in the law of 1913, thus making a total "normal" tax of 4 per cent on all incomes.

Second, the new law reduces the former exemptions of $3,000 for single persons and $4,000 for married persons to $1,000 and $2,000 respectively, but it allows an exemption of $200 for every dependent child under eighteen years.

If a man's net income, after deducting the exemptions, is less than $5,000 he pays a straight 4 per cent normal tax.

The taxes on incomes below $5,000, therefore, will run in this way when the new law goes into effect:

Net income (Deducting for exemptions). Old tax. New tax.

Beginning at $5,000, the new taxes begin gradually to increase. Incomes between $5,000 and $7,500 must pay the 4 per cent normal and in addition 1 per cent on the excess above $5,000. Incomes between $7,500 and $10,000 must pay the normal tax, the 1 per cent surtax for the $5,000-$7,500 class and a 2 per cent surtax on the excess of income over $7,500. In every successive step upward the receiver of the income must pay the normal, the surtaxes for all the classes below his class and the surtax for his own class.

When the income goes beyond $120,000 the figuring becomes twice as complicated as before, because you have to count in the graduated surtaxes of the income tax law of 1913 which the present law amends.

The following table, compiled by Mr. Wolfe, shows what each income had to pay under the old law, how much the new law adds to it and what the total tax will be:

INCOME TAX COMPARISON.

Net income	Old tax	Additional new tax	Total
$5,000	$200	$0	$200
7,500	300	175	475
10,000	400	275	675

45,000	1,800	1,675	3,475
50,000	2,000	1,875	3,875
55,000	2,200	2,075	4,275
60,000	2,400	2,275	4,675
65,000	2,600	2,475	5,075
70,000	2,800	2,675	5,475
75,000	3,000	2,875	5,875
80,000	3,200	3,075	6,275
85,000	3,400	3,275	6,675
90,000	3,600	3,475	7,075
95,000	3,800	3,675	7,475
1,000,000	108,000	372,500	480,500
1,000,000	108,000	372,500	480,500
2,000,000	238,000	892,500	1,130,500

The following table shows the surtax percentages under the old and new law for each group of incomes:

Class	Old surtax	New surtax	Total
$5,000 to $7,500	None	1	1
$7,500 to $10,000	None	2	2
$10,000 to $12,500	None	3	3
$12,500 to $15,000	None	4	4
$15,000 to $20,000	None	5	5
$20,000 to $25,000	1	6	7
$25,000 to $30,000	2	7	9
$30,000 to $35,000	3	8	11
$35,000 to $40,000	4	9	13
$40,000 to $45,000	5	10	15
$45,000 to $50,000	6	11	17
$50,000 to $55,000	7	12	19
$55,000 to $60,000	8	13	21
$60,000 to $65,000	9	14	23
$65,000 to $70,000	10	15	25
$70,000 to $75,000	11	16	27
$75,000 to $80,000	12	17	29
$80,000 to $85,000	13	18	31
$85,000 to $90,000	14	19	33
$90,000 to $95,000	15	20	35
$95,000 to $1,000,000	16	21	37
$1,000,000 upward	17	22	39

The new law puts a surtax of 10 per cent on all incomes over $1,000,000.

To find the total income tax on any given income, the simplest way is this: First find the tax on the nearest round figure income below it; then add the surtax on the sum that represents the excess of the given income over the round figure income in first table above.

For example: Your income, after deducting all exemptions to which you as a married man with dependent children are entitled, is $17,500. You therefore belong in the $15,000-$20,000 class. To find your tax you first look up the tax on $15,000 given in table A, which is $875. By referring to table B you see you are in the class that pays a total excess tax of 6 per cent. You therefore add 6 per cent of $2,500 (difference between $15,000 and $17,500) to your $875 and get your total tax of $1,000.

Hotel Clerk Wants Fellow-Sufferers to Profit by His Happy Experience.

While the following statement from J. A. Hurd, night clerk of the Hotel Murray, of Cambridge, is of value to every reader who bears the burdens of nervous ills it has especial significance for aged ailing folks, for Mr. Hurd is over three score and ten.

Druggist Carl Brennan of Cambridge reports that Mr. Hurd's high praise of Nerv-Worth came when that gentleman was a caller at the Brennan store to purchase a second bottle of the tonic. On being asked if the medicine was doing him any good, Mr. Hurd replied:

"It is the boss medicine! Two years ago I had a stroke of paralysis which left me in bad shape. The doctors could do nothing. I had no appetite and could not remember anything. Was nervous. A lady stopping at the hotel recommended Nerv-Worth. The first dose helped me and now I feel entirely a new man. I am 72-years old but eat more in one meal than I used to in three days. Regained my memory and getting over my nervousness. Sleeping and general health much improved. I think that by taking another bottle or two (of Nerv-Worth) will be entirely cured. You can use my name and welcome if it can be the means of helping some other sufferer."

Druggist T. J. Evans sells Nerv-Worth in Newark. Your dollar back if it does not do for you what it did for Mr. Hurd.

At Hebron, the Hebron Drug store sells Nerv-Worth; at Ullica, the Ullica Drug store; at Granville, W. Ulman; at Johnstown, C. S. Howard.—Advertisement. 9-23-10-1

AMERICAN FARMERS HAVE A WORLD-WIDE MARKET

The world is depending on American farmers for food. Good buildings will help you prevent loss and will increase your surplus for the market. Investment now in better buildings is wise.

Good Farm Buildings Means Bigger Crops.
Sanitary hog houses make bigger hog profits. Chicken houses, built so that rats and moisture stay outside, mean bigger egg yield and more broilers. A concrete-walled cow stable will keep your stock cooler in summer and warmer in winter, comes with bigger milk and butter profits.

Whether it is a single 2x4 or a bill of materials for a barn, your order will have our most careful attention. Our plan service will help you decide on the best design for your purpose.

Your dollar is bigger than for years back. A bushel of wheat or a pound of pork will buy more building supplies today than ever before. Now is the time to build food-conserving and labor-saving farm structures.

The Fitzsimmons team held the Columbus Pan Handles to 14 points and succeeded in crossing the P-H goal line once Sunday afternoon in the opening football game of the season. The Columbus eleven played a sluggish game through the first three periods but rallied somewhat in the fourth. A long forward pass received by Williams scored the first touchdown for Newark. The ball over and kicked goal in the fourth period. Mulberger scored a touchdown after a series of plays in which straight football was used. Newark held the bulkier team for downs in the last period, with the ball on Newark's four yard line. Newark gained by using short forward passes, failing when the longer passes were attempted. Mulberger starred for the Pan Handles.

AMUSEMENTS

AUDITORIUM.

Saturday Night's Show.

Neil O'Brien's minstrels played two engagements in this city Saturday. The matinee in the afternoon was not well attended and the program was cut somewhat, disappointing quite a few and causing some criticism. The evening show was well patronized and the program was pleasing throughout, although there was little change in either stage settings or comedians from last year's minstrel. The vocalists were in fine voice and their song numbers were a big feature and were enjoyed by all in attendance. Eddie Ross, with his African harp, also made a big hit. The next minstrel booked at the Auditorium is Al. G. Fields, which comes late in December.

"Seven Keys to Baldpate."

The Auditorium offers for today, Tuesday and Wednesday, the biggest feature of the season, it being the first appearance for Newark of Geo. M. Cohan, the "Yankee Doodle Boy" who is seen in the Arctcraft production, "7 Keys to Baldpate," a story by Pearl Deer Biggers and dramatized by Mr. Cohan himself. This play enjoyed a great run in New York and wherever presented turned people away. The story—there are seven keys to Baldpate Inn. Each one of the characters in the play have one of the keys. The keys are good, so far as they went, which was into the keyhole of Baldpate's front door. But the key to the situation is held in the right hand of George Washington Magee, played by George M. Cohan. An unwritten law governs all the announcements and all reviews of this feature, the complete story is never told. This much we are allowed to reveal.

That George Washington Magee, a writer of popular fiction makes a wager with Hall Bently, owner of the hotel, that he can write a complete novel of 10,000 words in 24 hours. He wants a place to work where he can be assured of perfect quiet, and Bently offers to let him invade Baldpate Inn, which is then deserted, it being the dead of winter. Armed with a key to the inn, and his trusty typewriter, Magee sets out. His key he takes with him into the inn, and he builds a fire and sets to work. But no sooner has his typewriter emitted its first few clinks than things begin to happen. There are six other keys to Baldpate Inn—and the possessors arrive, one by one, on errands which include bribery, theft, murder and other brands of assorted villainy. Magee copes with the invaders, one after another, till every plot is foiled, and he is master of one of the strangest situations ever witnessed on stage or screen. And then—

As for the rest of the story, we shall only mention that the intruders include two young and beautiful damsels, of very different natures, and on very different errands, and we've done our duty.

Mr. Fenberg promises his patrons in "7 Keys to Baldpate," one of the best treats of the season and none should miss it.

Joining the Colors.

The Auditorium today offers its patrons another most pleasing picture program, in fact, it is a Triple Big Feature Program, for in connection with George M. Cohan in "7 Keys to Baldpate," Pathe Weekly, showing the demonstration given Thursday, Sept. 20th, when 40 per cent of our drafted boys were called to colors. Mr. Fenberg at a great expense had a camera man come to Newark and nearly 1,000 feet of film was taken, showing the parade forming in front of the Auditorium. The Draft board at work, the speeches, etc., on the South Side of the court house, the large crowds assembled, the parade, high school, military organizations, the boys entraining, etc. It is a picture that all should see and it will be screened for three days starting this afternoon. Owing to the high cost of getting this film, a slight raise in prices are necessary.

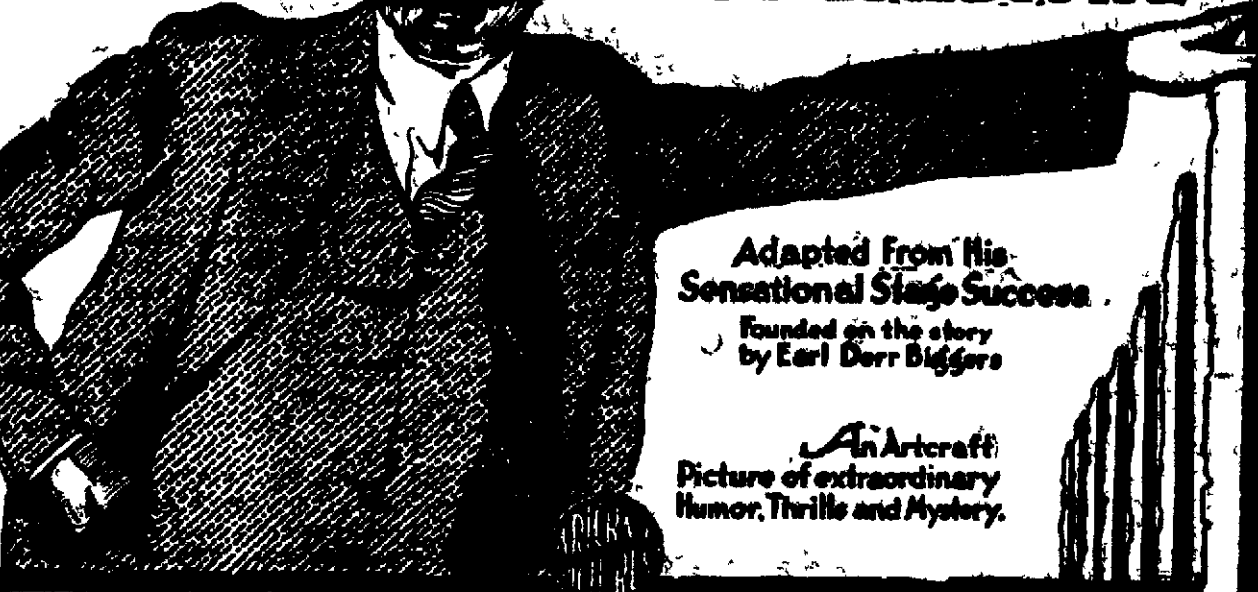

"There She Goes."

If you go to a ball game and your favorite "slugger" hits the ball for a "home" a thousand excited fans will watch the ball soar almost to the clouds and yell—"There She Goes." If you witness a balloon ascension, the moment the monster is cut loose and the daring athlete swings safely on the trapeze and shoots into the air, the big crowd of spectators will shout almost in one voice—"There She Goes." If you happen to be in a small town on the main line of a great railway system, and a fast train thunders through at the rate of sixty miles an hour, some bystander will say, "There She Goes" even if it's a mail (male) train, and so it is with a thousand and one other things.

When Harvey D. Orr offers his magnificent production, "There She Goes," the newest musical comedy, with Harvey and Harold Orr and a company of thirty-eight others, the favorite expression will be on everybody's tongue, "There She Goes" with its pretty girls, wealth of beautiful costumes and scenery, and the

Sensational Stage Success

An Arctcraft
Picture of extraordinary Humor, Thrills and Mystery.

TODAY - TUES. AND WED.

George M. Cohan, "The Yankee Doodle Boy," is the most unique figure in the theatre — HE HAS NEVER WRITTEN OR ACTED A FAILURE

—and "Seven Keys to Baldpate" is the most original play that ever found its way to the screen.

SOME COMBINATION. George M. Cohan, all half-hung-run-hurry—like five minutes till three on the Stock Exchange floor and radiating that typical "American pep" that has made us always associate the name Cohan with American humor in a play of his own devising.

—And "Seven Keys to Baldpate" will take your nerves and tie them in a knot, and run a chilly finger up your spine and make your hair stand on end—and then just as you're about to succumb to the mystery and thrills, George M. Cohan will drop in like a 42-centimeter from Broadway and break up the shudder party with his inimitable laugh—tick.

—There are "Seven Keys to Baldpate"—and we might tell you something about the story now—but only this, George M. Cohan is "the Master Key" to this brilliant "Mystery-Farce."

original New York cast is the brightest and classiest musical comedy ever written. The latest craze a Jazz Orchestra is one of the big features. "There She Goes" comes to the Auditorium next Saturday afternoon and evening.

Auditorium Notes.

George M. Cohan, the great Broadway comedian, known the world over, makes his debut today at the Auditorium in the Arctcraft feature "7 Keys to Baldpate," a screen adaptation of this mystery-farce, by the star himself. The story by Earl Derr Biggs, is said to be one of the funniest things offered to picture fans in some time and should be the means of drawing capacity crowds to the Auditorium during the entire three day showing.

Manager Fenberg of the Auditorium has arranged to show soon another War Feature, "Burning Europe or Old Glory Fighting in France." In this many scenes connected with the Italians at the Italian front, showing them winning battle after battle, is shown. This is Authentic Films of This World War, taken by special permission of the General Staff and War Department. The dates of showing will be announced later.

A feature soon to be seen at the Auditorium is Elsie Ferguson, beloved of the legimate, who will be seen in Robert Hichens' story "Barbary Sheep." Another most pleasing feature is Vivian Martin in "The Little Miss Optimist." This picture is seen here next week.

The Crescent Harmony Four, who sang at the Auditorium yesterday, made a big hit with Sunday amusement seekers and it is possible that they may be heard again in the near future.

The Pathe-Weekly, seen at the Auditorium today is chuck full of War News, several of the cantonments of the country being shown, also boys leaving for these camps. These weeklies are popular with the masses and when advertised, draw capacity crowds.

ALHAMBRA.

Tonight and Tomorrow.
"All's fair in love and war," according to the oldest philosophy on earth, and that is why Gail Kane consented to fall in love with an officer of the enemy secret service in her new photoplay "Souls in Pawn," a remarkable story by Julius Grinnell Farthmann, directed by the brilliant stage manager, Henry King.

The new play is a love story first and a war story second, but in both its aspects it is fascinating. Miss Kane is admirably suited in the appealing role of Liane Dore, a beautiful young French matron, and the clever young actress succeeds in surrounding herself with the French atmosphere and adapting herself to the French manner without a suggestion that she is not the born Parisienne.

Wednesday and Thursday.
"The Guardian" is the title of the World-Picture Brady-Made which will be shown Wednesday and Thursday at the Alhambra theatre. This picture has three stars, June Elvidge, Montague Love and Arthur Ashley, and the picture is so full of incident and excitement that it offers unexcelled opportunities to each and every one of these stars. The story is of every-day people—the kind of people that everyone knows. It is a convincing tale of modern life and is presented in an unforgettable manner.

For a long time Earl Williams, the Greater Vitaphone star, has been "getting away with it" in the knock-

VERDUN SECTOR
SCENE OF ATTACK

comes within the range of the fire of the British guns.
"The superiority of the British over their enemies was conclusively proved during the engagement of the past week. The battle of Menin road furthermore, shows that the fighting stamina of the Germans is deteriorating, not that the enemy did not display great skill and dogged determination in his repeated counter attacks."

Of the fighting on the French
front the communiqué says:
"The outstanding feature of the recent engagements is the wastage of the man power of the enemy. If we compare the enemy, if we compare the combat front of the Verdun in 1916, held by twelve German divisions, with the front along the Aisne in 1917 held by fourteen divisions, both practically the same length it is found that during the same period of time, from May to September, 1916 and 1917 respectively, the enemy engaged along the Verdun front 25 new divisions last year; along the Aisne, 35 new divisions this year."

"So great has the wastage of enemy forces become, owing to the improved mechanical means of the allies and the perfection of their methods of combat that the Germans are obliged to maintain in reserve as a minimum guarantee for the safety of their battle line in the west, at least forty divisions. The western front thus remains the principal battle front of the war. It is still strongly held by the enemy and his defensive strength, while shaken, remains powerful."

The situation on the other fronts is dismissed with a brief review of recent official dispatches. The only mention of American forces is as follows:
"The mobilization of the National Guard in three camps is progressing rapidly and the formation of reorganized divisions is taking place.
This reorganization is necessitated
by the conditions of the present war and requires larger regiments and certain machine guns and other units not typical heretofore. Some misunderstanding of the reorganization has arisen but its purpose and military necessity are being explained and the division commanders are doing their utmost to dis-prove the local assertions and hys-teric memories of the state forces."

"The assembling of the National Army in the cantonments has gone on with smoothness and success.
Equipment difficulties are not serious and are being rapidly overcome. The most obvious shortage is in rifles but an adequate supply for all purposes will soon be at hand and no delay in training results from the shortage. All overseas forces are, of course, adequately supplied."

SINN FEINE LEADER IS GIVEN LARGE FUNERAL
(Associated Press Telegram)
Dublin, Oct. 1.—The funeral procession which followed the body of Thomas Ashe, the Sinn Feine leader, who died Thursday, from the city hall to Glasnevin cemetery yesterday, was extremely large, exceeding in number even that of the Parnell funeral in 1891. The procession was very well organized and perfect order was kept.
The principal contingents were Irish volunteers, the Gaelic Athletic association, the Gaelic League, the Liberty Hall Citizen Army and the Duoil Trade Unions. There were also many representatives from women's clubs. More than a dozen hands played patriotic airs. The three mile route was lined with spectators and the bells of the Catholic churches were tolled. The Irish volunteers wore their uniforms and carried Harley sticks although these were offenses against recent military regulations. There was also a firing party at the grave side.
The government authorities did not interfere with the demonstration which was most impressive.

FORTY-FIVE I. W. W. UNDER ARREST; HUNTING OTHERS

(Associated Press Telegram)
Chicago, Oct. 1.—Federal authorities announced today that 45 of the 166 members of the Industrial Workers of the World, named in indictments returned last Friday by a federal grand jury, were under arrest in various parts of the country. Reports of more arrests are looked for during the day by government agents, as the whereabouts of practically all those indicted is known, although several have changed their addresses since the news of the indictments became public.

When all the arrests have been made, which agents of the department of justice believes will have been accomplished by the end of the week, the work of transporting the defendants to Chicago for trial on charges of seditious conspiracy against the government, will begin.

Farming as a business and a big business is taking on prosperous proportions. Prices as they have been for the past three years mean wealth to farmers.

Many settlers are this year clearing their land of all indebtedness. Two seasons of crops does it take. They are thus accomplishing in two years what they planned to do in twenty.

Figures from the Canadian Pacific railway's land department show that seven times as many Americans crossed the border this year to take up Canadian Pacific land as in 1916, and that these new settlers bought three times as much land.

CURED A "CROUCH" BY INTERNAL BATHS

Mr. Joseph A. Wells writes Dr. Chas. A. Tyrrel of New York as follows:
"On the 15th of June 1915, I purchased a J. B. L. Cascade. The results it has produced are simply marvelous. For 20 years I used cathartics, but have used nothing but the Cascade for almost a month. I feel like a new man. I want to be clean in everybody. He forced I used the Cascade I was a crouch, I did not like anybody and could not be pleasant."
If you bathe internally with the "J. B. L. Cascade" you will find yourself always bright, confident and capable. Poisonous waste in the lower intestine makes you ill, blue, dull and nervous. Internal baths are Nature's own cure for constipation—just antiseptic warm water properly applied. Drugs force Nature—the "J. B. L. Cascade" gently assists her.

BOLO IS CHARGED WITH TREASON; HAS CHECKERED CAREER

(Associated Press Telegram) Paris, Oct. 1.—Bolo Pasha, charged with having relations with the enemy, according to a story of his career appearing in the Matin, was born in Marseilles. At first he was a clerk to a notary. He is a brother of Monsieur Bolo, one of the most eloquent preachers of the Catholic church in France, and had an easy access to an honorable career, but chose occupations that were varied and hazardous.

His business ventures began with a scheme for the wholesale catching and shipment of lobsters. This cost his partner a considerable sum. After failing in several other enterprises, Bolo Pasha came to Paris and started a sort of information bureau. It became the target for numerous complaints culminating in the condemnation of Bolo by default for abuse of confidence and swindling in 1894. He then went to Valencia, Spain, where under the name of Berner, he opened a cafe that was much frequented by the French colony.

In 1903, the Matin says, he turned up at Bordeaux, where he married a widow who had an annual income of 70,000 francs. He then enlarged his financial operations, appearing at Lyons as an agent for Champagne and other wines. Afterwards he again transferred his headquarters to Paris. Bolo, the newspaper adds, was conspicuous in the riots in Champagne when the wine-growers there in a protest against the use of wine from outside Champagne for making sparkling wines under the name of Champagne, devastated the vineyards of big French companies, while those owned by Germans were left unharmed.

It was in June, 1914, that Bolo met Abbas Hilmi, then khedive of Egypt. He at once became a trusted agent in the enterprise for the exploitation of real estate owned by the khedive and for the protection of the khedive's interest in the Suez canal and in Egypt and in event that circumstance might compel Great Britain to repudiate the khedive.

The Matin concludes from these negotiations that Abbas Hilmi two months before the actual outbreak of hostilities, participated in a war in which Turkey would be involved and sought to protect his interests in case his lot with the sultan of Turkey.

Requiring a "straw" man to take his interest under cover, says the Matin, a contract was drawn up by which Bolo was to be recognized by the khedive in writing as his creditor to the amount of 50,000,000 francs. In exchange, Bolo was to make an agreement to repay that sum to its legitimate owner. But Bolo's part in the agreement was found to be insufficiently clear, the newspaper adds, and the project was not carried to completion.

Bolo Pasha, the Matin declares, communicated seals with Abbas Hilmi in Switzerland, shortly after Great Britain had deposed Abbas as khedive and through the ex-khedive entered into relations with German agents.

GARFIELD FIXES COAL PROFIT FOR RETAIL DEALERS

(Associated Press Telegram) Washington, Oct. 1.—An order of Fuel administrator H. A. Garfield made effective today defining the profits of retail coal and coke dealers throughout the country, expressed to effect an immediate decrease in the prices now charged the consumer. Gross margins over production cost are limited to the average of 1915 plus a maximum increase of 30 per cent. with a check provision that the average margin of July this year not be exceeded. Compliance with the order will be enforced by the fuel administration in the various states.

An order simultaneously issued today by the fuel administration directs the downward revision in the mine price in the Pennsylvania anthracite district and grants appeal for increases in the government fixed bituminous prices in the outlying fields.

The text of the order fixing the margins says:

"On and after Oct. 1, 1917, in making prices and sales to consumers and retail gross margin added by any retail dealer to the average cost of any size or grade of coal or coke for cash sale, the gross margin shall not exceed the average gross margin added by such dealers for the same size or grade for each class of business during the calendar year, 1915, plus thirty per cent. of the said retail gross margin for the calendar year 1915; provided, however, that the retail gross margin added by any retail dealer shall in no case exceed the average added by such dealer for the same size, grade and class of business during July, 1917. By this order retailers are required to fix a retail gross margin which may be less than, but shall not in any instance exceed the margin added by them in 1915 plus thirty per cent. thereof."

BELIEVE RELIEF IN SIGHT.

Columbus, O., Oct. 1.—"In my judgment relief is in sight and coal will be pouring into every community of the state at a very early date." This statement was made by Attorney General McGhee today upon receipt of a letter from Dr. H. A. Garfield, national fuel administrator, expressing confidence that action now being taken by his department will afford Ohio the necessary relief.

Dr. Garfield said that the provisional ruling governing the prices that retail dealers may charge for coal, together with the step taken by his department to secure better car service and preference for coal movement, he was "sure would provide Ohio with what coal it needs."

A Canning Canticle

Amid the canning bustle
I liked to watch Lulu
As capped and bibbed she'd hustle
Some compound choice to brew.
She strung the beans benignly,
The quinces induced with care,
Jarred all the jams divinely
And pared each plum and pear.

And when she'd quit her working
And all the fruit was canned
Myself alert at shirking
Could sometimes squeeze her hand,
But roots and fruits are canned in—
The season's done, woe's me!
For now to keep her hand in
She thinks of canning me.

CORN PONE URGED AS NATIONAL DISH

Hoover's Administration Begins an Energetic Drive to Save Wheat.

A campaign to introduce, even to urge upon American housekeepers, the merits of corn pone, Johnny cake, corn bread, Indian pudding and all other preparations in which cornmeal replaces wheat flour is being inaugurated by the United States food administration.

With a corn crop estimated at 600,000,000 bushels in excess of last year's crop of 2,533,241,000 bushels, corn, even at its present unprecedentedly high price, remains the cheapest food discovered by the administration after a survey of fifty staples. Moreover, according to Mr. Hoover's commission, there is twice as much nutritive value in a dollar's worth of cornmeal as in a dollar's worth of wheat bread.

It is hoped that through the use of corn enough wheat may be released from home consumption to make up the deficit in Europe. But the decision rests with the American housewife. "Corn bread," the food administration admits, "cannot be acceptably prepared to be sold over the baker's counter. It is distinctly a 'home baking' food. The success of the substitution of cornmeal for flour will depend very largely upon the voluntary co-operation given in the United States to the work of the food administration."

"If the people of England can save 25 per cent of her normal wheat consumption by sacrifice and substitution without an adequate knowledge of cornmeal—and, although in England, as in France and Belgium, virtually all the baking is now done in public bakeries—an awakened America, with an abundance of cornmeal, potatoes, oats and rye, should not find it difficult to substitute some of these for flour in sufficient quantity to supply the demands the allies are making upon us."

DOG WAS AMBASSADOR.

Canadians Got Five Minutes to Bring in Wounded Man.

The Canadians called him Mutt. He was all dog, says a London dispatch. He used to run back and forth across No-Man's Land, a neutral with the widest privileges.

One day the Canadians went over the top in a raid, and a Maple Leaf fell wounded. His friends wanted to face certain death to bring him in, but officers held them back.

Then Mutt came swaggering down the trench. A Tommy seized him and held him while an officer scribbled this note:

"Will you allow us to bring in our wounded man?"

Mutt shoved over the top with the note tied to his neck. He sauntered over to the Boche lines. Soon he came back with the reply:

"Will give you five minutes."

In four minutes stretcher bearers brought back their man in safety.

Then both sides returned to business.

WOULD ADVERTISE THEFTS.

Sign on Auto Would Say, "This Car Is Stolen if in Motion."

Margarita Schumacher, in devising a means of preventing automobile theft, has done away with the usual locks, chains, brakes and other devices which usually go to make the automobile theft proof in theory if not in fact. This woman inventor of Los Angeles, Cal., goes about this problem from a new angle and substitutes a simple sign for all manner of safety locks and chains and brakes.

She suggests the use of a simple shade, normally held in position on a roller mounted on the windshield and pulled over the windshield when the car is to be left standing. The shade is made of opaque material and bears on its front face the legend, "This car is stolen if in motion." Means are provided for holding the shade in position during the absence of the owner, and it is evident that with an opaque screen before him and the sign announcing that the car is stolen a thief could not get very far with a stolen vehicle.

GREEK GOVERNMENT EXTENDS RELATIONS WITH UNITED STATES

(Associated Press Telegram) Athens, Sept. 1.—(By Mail.)—The minister of foreign affairs, M. Politis, has announced in the Greek chamber of deputies that the new Venizelos regime would signalize its return to power by extending and developing relations with the United States and by giving the first definite recognition to the extensive Greek colonies all over the United States. He submitted several measures to this end, namely, the establishment of consular agents at New York, San Francisco and Chicago, consuls at Boston and New Orleans, and some sixty honorary consular positions at places where there are 1,000 or 1,500 Greeks.

The project also provides for a national fund to be administered by the Greek legation at Washington. "This national fund will be used," said the minister, "to aid the societies looking after emigrants arriving in America, getting work for them, looking after them when sick. It will assist in founding schools, churches, benefit societies and organizations for the spread of Greek literature and fine arts."

There was great applause in the chamber when the minister referred to extending Greek art and literature in America as it was the first suggestion that Greece could furnish America something more than toiling masses. It appealed strongly to the national pride which considers Greece as the birthplace of art and literature and rather resents the idea that cheap labor is what Greece is chiefly contributing to America.

The new consular representatives, besides assisting Greeks and looking after their interests will issue certificates of nationality which will serve as means of identification and general protection with local authorities.

Chamberlin, L. A. Austin, Prof. W. H. Johnson, Mayor C. D. Coons and Burton Case, J. M. Jones in charge.

An impressive service was held in Maple Grove cemetery at noon today on the old Fassett-Dunley lot, when the remains of Mrs. Frank D. McCauley of Boston were laid to rest by the side of her husband's mother, Mrs. Kate Dunley McCauley. A large party of relatives and friends from the east, from Columbus, Newark and Granville assembled on the beautiful knoll and listened reverently as Rev. L. P. Franklin of Newark read the Episcopal burial service. Floral tributes were magnificent, attesting the love and esteem of a large circle of mourning friends. Mr. McCauley is a grandson of the late Frank Dunley and great grandson of Elias Fassett, who built the mansion now owned by J. C. Campbell of Columbus on the Lancaster road. The party arrived from Columbus in motor cars chartered by J. M. Jones the undertaker, returning as they came.

Mr. and Mrs. Horace Huffman of Dayton are spending the week in Granville.

Mrs. Warren Morris of Cleveland is visiting her mother, Mrs. Clara M. Ogden at Oak-dene, Mr. and Mrs. David Ogden of Boston, Mass., are also guests for the week at Oak-dene.

J. S. Jones, who had intended combining business with pleasure by motoring to Cincinnati, with Mrs. Jones and a party of friends Saturday, and whose car met with disaster east of Columbus left yesterday for the Queen City, despite the injuries of which he makes light. Mrs. Jones, although bruised and shaken is resting comfortably at Bryn Du.

Mrs. Clark W. Chamberlain has as house guest Miss Clara Penfield, Pasadena, Calif.

Mrs. George Andrews of Bay City, Mich., formerly Miss Alice Senease of Granville, is a guest at the Bryn Du House for a few days. Both Dr. and Mrs. Andrews were numbered among the most accomplished musicians of Granville, and Mrs. Andrews never has lost touch with musical progress in the old town.

K. H. Eschman invites the singers of the village as well as of the college, to fill the gaps in the Escherson chorus. This would seem to be almost a patriotic duty on the part of those who can sing or even "make a joyful noise." The town needs its chorus as never before. Rehearsal, this evening in Recital Hall at 6:30.

Mr. and Mrs. A. D. Eldridge of Franklin, who have three daughters in Shepherdson College, spent the week-end in Granville, and announce their intention of repeating the visit at brief and frequent intervals.

The first fall meeting of the Women's Music club will be held

COLUMBUS CHURCHES

FAVOR KARB'S RECALL

Columbus, O., Oct. 1.—Approval to the Civic League's proposal to recall Mayor Karb was given yesterday by several church organizations. In others the recall was discussed but action was deferred.

Negative action was taken in no church. Some pastors said their congregations expect to vote on the proposal soon.

Methodist churches appeared to take a more active interest than others yesterday.

All The World Is Talking Service

Because service is a great word in print by reason of its rarity in practice. We also talk service, but it is not the empty, abstract service of the majority, but the real, proven, inspirational service that is more a matter of experience than hope.
